1. AIR SHO-HEI

A Shohei Ohtani home run this season had 6.98 seconds of hangtime, the longest hangtime for any home run by an Angel in the Statcast era (since 2015).

2. HOT, HOT, HOT

During an Angels homestand vs. Oakland, Brandon Drury hit .600 (9/15) with seven runs, two doubles, one triple, four home runs, 12 RBI, and three walks in the four games against the A's; his 12 RBI set a new franchise record for a single series, and those seven extra-base hits tied a franchise record for a series.

3. OUCH!

Since 1901, Zach Neto's seven HBP are the most in MLB through 15 career games played.

4. STREAKIN'

Shohei Ohtani's streak of 35.0 consecutive scoreless innings at Angel Stadium is the second-longest streak in the ballpark's history (36.2 IP - Mark Clear in 1979).

5. BIG FISH

Mike Trout this season became the fourth player all-time with 300+ doubles, 300+ HR and 200+ stolen bases by his age-31 season (joining Barry Bonds, Willie Mays, and Alex Rodriguez).

6. GOT YOUR BACK

Taylor Ward, Mike Trout and Shohei Ohtani hit back-to-back-to-back home runs this season, the first time for the franchise since June 8, 2019 vs. Seattle (Tommy La Stella, Trout, Ohtani).

7. SUMMER SLAM

8. ARMED

Since 2017, Hunter Renfroe leads the Majors in outfield assists with 57.

9. BLAST OFF

Mickey Moniak this season became the first player in MLB history to make his season debut on his birthday and hit a leadoff home run.

10. THE GOLDEN STATE

Six Angels were born in California: Chad Wallach (Yorba Linda), Patrick Sandoval (Mission Viejo), Chris Devenski (Artesia), Griffin Canning (Coto de Caza), Mickey Moniak (Encinitas) and Jacob Webb (Riverside).

THE BIG A

The 2023 season marks the 58th season for the Angels playing home games at Angel Stadium. After spending their first five years of existence playing at Wrigley Field (1961) and Chavez Ravine (1962-65), the Halos landed in their new home in Orange County in 1966. Since opening the doors for its first exhibition game Apr. 9, 1966, Angel Stadium has played host to some of the Club's memorable events including seven A.L. West Division clinching games (1979, 1982, 1986, 2007, 2008, 2009 and 2014), three All-Star Games (1967, 1989 and 2010) and the 2002 World Series, including the Angels Game 7 victory over the San Francisco Giants to clinch the franchise's first championship. Angel Stadium has also seen several individual Halos leave their indelible marks on the game of baseball. Whether it be the seven Angels no-hitters, Rod Carew's 3,000th hit, Reggie Jackson's 500th home run, Don Sutton's 300th win or Albert Pujols' 600th home run, Angel Stadium has housed some of Major League Baseball's most prestigious accomplishments.

Presently, Angel Stadium sits as baseball's fourth-oldest ballpark, trailing only Boston's Fenway Park, Chicago's Wrigley Field and Los Angeles' Dodger Stadium. Affectionately known as "The Big A", Angel Stadium has seen over 125 million fans pass through its gates since 1966, including a stretch of 17 consecutive full seasons drawing over three million fans, a streak only the Angels and Yankees achieved from 2003-19.

After an Aug. 31, 1964 groundbreaking ceremony, Anaheim Stadium, as it was originally known, was completed in 1966 at a cost of $24 million. The facility's centerpiece was a giant A-frame scoreboard standing 230 feet high and was the source of the stadium's nickname.

With a seating capacity of 43,250, Anaheim Stadium was built with "Convenience, Comfort and Courtesy" in mind. Narrow foul territory areas and quickly rising decks gave fans an up-close view of the action. Gradually-inclined ramps, escalators, wide aisles and helpful ushers as well as three surrounding freeways, 26 entrance lanes and 28 exit lanes added to the Big A's accessibility.

Anaheim Stadium underwent construction to enclose the stadium in 1979 for additional seating to accommodate the Rams' football games. Seating capacity was increased to 64,593 for baseball and more than 70,000 for football. A total of 108 executive style boxes were added to surround the rear of the Club Level. In addition to the Stadium Club, there were two other private dining areas designed for groups — the Stadium Pavilion and the Football Press Box.

At that time, the Big A board was preserved and moved to the edge of the parking lot adjacent to the Orange Freeway behind the right field area.

When the Rams left for St. Louis, Anaheim Stadium's primary tenant remained the Angels, who originally signed a 35-year contract (through 2001). Renovations began Oct. 1, 1996, to revert the 30-year old structure back to a baseball only facility and the ballpark was renamed Edison International Field. The total cost for the stadium renovation was estimated at $100 million and the project was completed in time for the Angels' Opening Day, Apr. 1, 1998. New enhancements were added all around the ballpark but perhaps the most noticeable is the center field waterfalls and rock formation that come together to form an "A". Settled inside the waterfall's rapids are water geysers that originally shot water into the air whenever an Angels player hit a home run.

Other features of the renovations included terraced bullpens in the outfield, widened concourses, new restroom and concession areas, family-oriented seating sections, state-of-the-art club-level and dugout-level suites, a youth-oriented interactive game area and landscaped courtyards (with statues in remembrance of Gene Autry and Michelle Carew).

In addition, Angel Stadium includes two full-service restaurants: Brewery X (a sports bar located at the club level down the right field line) and the Lexus Diamond Club (an upscale restaurant with outdoor seating on the field level behind home plate). In 2014, the newest luxury seating area was added to the ballpark with the opening of HALO, now known as the Don Julio Club.

During the 2016 and 2017 offseasons, Angel Stadium underwent several major upgrades. The first round of improvements began immediately following the 2016 season when a new state of the art LED stadium light system was installed. The following offseason, Angel Stadium received one of it's largest technological enhancements to date. In Oct., 2017, the Angels partnered with Daktronics to bring 14 LED displays, including two new video boards in both left and right field to Angel Stadium. At the time it was installed, the right field display was the third largest in Major League Baseball at 9,500 square feet and features 7.7 million LEDs. Eight ribbon displays totaling 1,168 feet in length were also installed along the seating fascia to provide additional statistics and graphics. The largest of these included the entire fascia length along the first and third baselines. Finally, a new out-of-town scoreboard replaced the existing board on the right field wall. All total, the Club added more than 23,000 square feet of new LED displays to their home venue.

Also installed prior to the 2018 season was a new state-of-the art sound system. The main seating bowl now has 300 speakers plus more than 50 subwoofers and is powered by 200,000 watts.

With the enhancements made throughout the course of the past several years, Angel Stadium proudly maintains the title of the fourth-oldest ballpark in the Majors while offering its guests access to some of the latest technological amenities. As a result, Angel Stadium continues to be one of Southern California's most unique sports venues.

THE BIG A

Nestled in the corner of the Angel Stadium parking lot is one of the ballpark's most recognizable features, "The Big A" message board. With the completion of Anaheim Stadium in 1966, the facility's centerpiece was a giant A-frame scoreboard standing 230 feet high. At the time, it was the largest scoreboard ever constructed and became the source of the stadium's nickname. The Big A's original home was just beyond the left field wall where it served as the facility's main scoreboard for over a decade. When the stadium underwent construction to accommodate the Los Angeles Rams in 1979, The Big A was preserved and moved to its current location in the southeastern corner of the parking lot, adjacent to the 57 freeway. Contractors used a 125-ton crane and two large dollies to move the structure over 1,200 feet across the stadium lots.

The Angels have long utilized The Big A to celebrate each of the club's victories. After every Angel win, both home and road, the 70-foot wide halo atop the Big A is illuminated for fans both inside the ballpark and out to see. It is customary for the halo to remain lit until dawn of the day following a victory. The Angels are one of the few sports franchises whose post-victory tradition signals a win to all within sight of their facility.

Since its construction in 1966, The Big A has undergone several modifications and facelifts. The scoreboard's original color palette was all white with a gold halo before becoming green, gold and beige when the stadium was renamed Edison Field. In February, 2002, with the club switching their uniform scheme back to red as the primary color, the Big A was painted red and beige. The landmark then underwent additional changes after the 2009 season when the structure was painted all red. A new full-color display was added to the front facade, replacing the former dot-matrix board and a new halo was placed at the top. A third extensive renovation took place prior to the 2018 season as part of Angel Stadium's overall enhancements. The Big A received a new LED marquee, illuminated Angel Stadium sign and a new modernized LED Halo adorned the top of the famed structure.

As it currently sits, the Club has the ability to display full pictures, texts and graphics as well as turn the halo nearly any color it desires. The most commonly displayed colors on the structure's crown are red, white, blue, green and orange.

1330AM TU LIGA RADIO

KWKW Tu Liga Radio is in its 16th year as the Spanish-language play-by-play home of the Los Angeles Angels.

In 1941, at the beginning of World War II, the Federal Commuications Commisson awarded KWKW its license to broadcast and inform the Hispanic population of Los Angeles the news about the war. This took place in the basement of a hotel on Colorado Street in Pasadena. At a later date KWKW moved to 800 Sierra Madre Villa in Pasadena, where many of today's famous announcers began their careers in Spanish Radio.

In 1962, Lotus Communications Corporation bought KWKW. Since that time Howard Kalmenson, owner and founder of Lotus Communications, has been able to acquire 24 radio stations which broadcast in English and Spanish as well as Lotus Hispanic Reps, a National Rep firm with offices across the country. All this was possible because of KWKW.

In January 1989, when KWKW switched from 1300 to 1130 on the AM dial, the broadcast coverage area more than doubled. KWKW is one of the leading Spanish language radio stations in the United States. An excellent signal, popular personalitites, outstanding news, sports and in-depth public service and community involvement guarentee KWKW's long-term success in the dominant Mexican and Latino communities of Los Angeles.

FEELING AT HOME / BRANDON DRURY

Brandon Drury was 10 years old when the Angels won the World Series. It made quite an impression on a kid from a school city in Oregon along the Rogue River.

He might have rooted for an MLB team 750 miles away, but the success of the franchise played an integral role in his childhood.

"My family and I were Angels fans, so we're really familiar with the area," Drury told the media after signing a two-year free agent contract with the Halos over the winter.

"We used to go to Angels games and Disneyland as a kid all the time. So, I really like being closer to home. And I feel like the team is so close to being really good. They're really on the cusp of being a great team."

Since those comments, his word "they're" has transitioned to "we" for the 30-year old who is engrained as a regular at Angel Stadium.

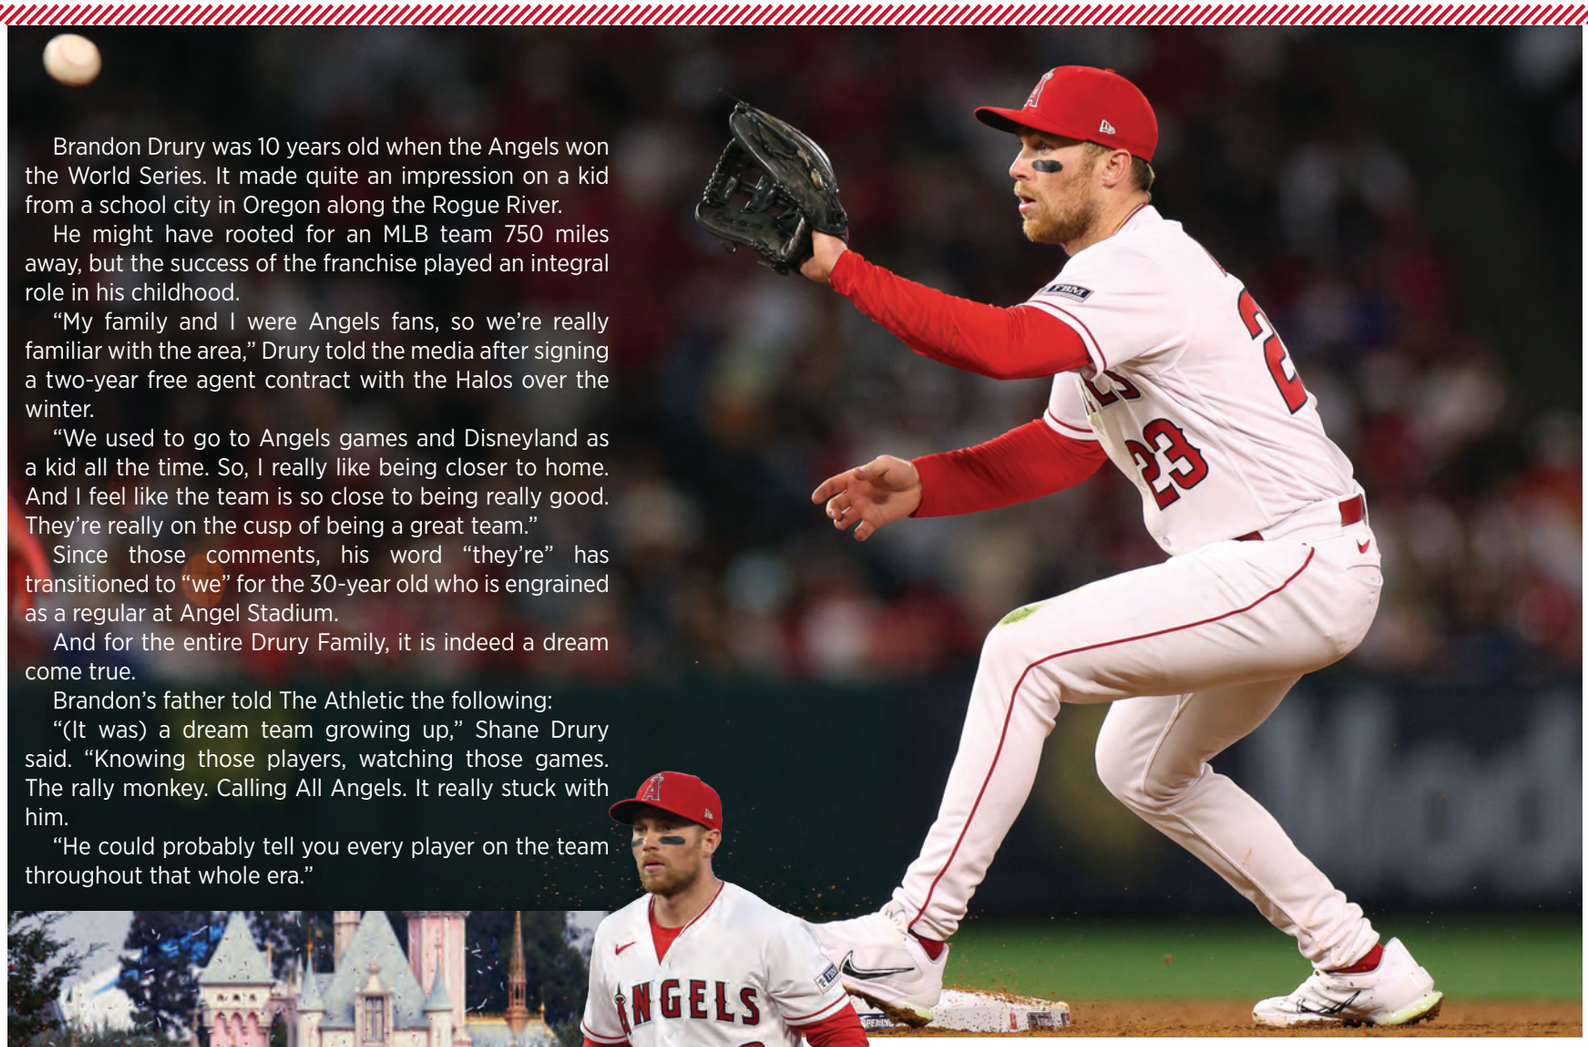
Brandon's father told The Athletic the following:

"(It was) a dream team growing up," Shane Drury said. "Knowing those players, watching those games. The rally monkey. Calling All Angels. It really stuck with him.

"He could probably tell you every player on the team throughout that whole era."



WORKING HIS WAY BACK / GRIFFIN CANNING

Griffin Canning was sidelined for a significant amount of time due to health reasons, most notably a low back stress reaction, before he returned to the Angel Stadium mound in April.

The Mission Viejo native took a no-decision in that season debut on April 12 versus Washington, tossing five innings while allowing five hits and two earned runs. He struck out four and did not allow a walk.

It marked his first Major League appearance since July 2, 2021. It had been a long time coming.

"I'm prepared for this. I've been doing it for the last year and a half to get ready for this moment. I felt ready. And just excited to be back out there," he said to the media after the game, an Angels win.

A former standout at Santa Margarita Catholic High School and at UCLA before the Angels selected him in the 2nd round of the 2017 Draft, Canning had pitched in 43 games starting in 2017, his rookie campaign.

He also earned the American League Rawlings Gold Glove Award at pitcher in 2020, joining Mark Langston as the only Halo hurlers to win the award in a season in which Canning tied for the A.L. lead among pitchers with three Defensive Runs Saved.

"You could see it on his face. I told him congrats and welcome back," said manager Phil Nevin. "It was a cool moment."

Baseball America, the authority on the MLB Draft and MLB prospects, will need to get back to work to reclassify a couple of young Angels.

The publication's #2 overall prospect, Zach Neto was recalled by the Angels on April 15 and made his MLB debut that night in Boston. Meanwhile Logan O'Hoppe is ranked #1. He played in his first five Major League games last year and made the Opening Day Angels roster in 2023.

For O'Hoppe and Neto, the future is now.

THE SWEEPER? YES...THE SWEEPER!

MARK GUBICZA WON AS MANY AS 20 GAMES IN A SEASON AS A STARTING PITCHER. HE IS NOW IN HIS 22ND SEASON CALLING ANGELS GAMES ON TV. IS THE 'SWEEPER' A NEW PITCH? HE SAYS YES. AND NO.

I think the word sweeper has come into the baseball terminology in the last year, maybe year and a half to two years at the most. You hear it a lot now. Slurve was used for years. A curveball is generally slower than a slider. But if you are able to feature the combination of a harder curveball but more break it became referred to as a slurve.

If you go back, even when I was pitching, the sweeper is in that same category of a slurve, a slider-curveball combination. I used to throw a hard slider and I threw a slider with more horizontal break that changed speeds. I don't think it's a pitch that hasn't been thrown before. I think it is mostly new terminology.

I don't think anybody's been throwing it, however, with type of break so far that Shohei is having with it. That is pretty impressive. I would go games where when I was completely healthy, I would throw my regular slider in the 88-90 miles per hour range. When I wanted to throw it for a strike or change speeds, I would throw it in 84-87 range. So, it's not a brand-new pitch, but — you have to remember — sliders kind of went away for a while when everyone was into beating launch angles with a four-seam fastball and curveball, so now they kind of made a combination of a slider and a curveball together. Hence, the sweeper.

A sweeper can be thrown by a right-handed pitcher and a lefty. The Angels have a couple of guys in Tucker Davidson and Jose Suarez who are throwing sweepers. A curveball used to be a 12-to-6 break straight up and down, or maybe 11-to-5. From a lefty you are looking at 1-to-7. And a slider used to be more almost like the terminology you hear with cutter. The best way to describe a sweeper is instead of having vertical break, up and down break, it's more horizontal. So left to right on the break and a little slower. It creates more of an arc and a better spin.

Another guy you are seeing working on developing the pitch is Griffin Canning, though I think his is more of a hard slider. I know a bunch of the guys out of the bullpen throw it. Almost everyone does. I know they all work on it. Part of it reading spin with Bill Hezel, who came from Driveline. He is our new assistant pitching coach. They are down there every day along with Connor Hinchliffe, who is a brilliant young kid, working with our pitchers with all the tracking machines. They are all seeing and reading spin and the break between the horizontal and vertical break. This allows a pitcher to actually throw a pitch and study it.

Ohtani's sweeper is the best I have seen with that break. You can tell by the reaction of batters. That was the pitch he got Mike Trout out in the WBC. The guy back in my day who had the best one was Dave Stieb in Toronto. That is the best comparison I can make to Ohtani's slider/curve/sweeper.

In terms of the grip, I think you get around the baseball. With a slider you are on top of the baseball. When I say you stay on top of the baseball, it is like throwing a football. For the sweeper your fingers are down a little lower on the ball. Not a whole lot as far as putting middle finger pressure on the seam. If you do you have a little bit of an lower angle with your hand on the baseball. It is still difficult for any hitter to pick up.

The sweeper is another reason why I think it is so difficult to be a hitter these days. I can't say that enough. There are so many high velocity guys on the mound, pitching late in games and you don't see them very often and they are full max guys throwing as hard as they can every pitch. Then you mix in the sweeper that has that horizontal break which makes it more difficult. I guess the only way you can combat it is to try and bring that pitch in the zone. If you do, you have a shot. If you chase, you have no shot at it. No shot at all.

Another change in today's game is back then guys would fight not to strike out. They felt bad when they struck out. In today's game it is all about doing as much damage as you can because, again, it's harder to hit. So, you're more apt to hopefully get one pitch and you swing hard enough to get one of those pitches that are a mistake.

Facing the sweeper is no different. It can be a mistake. The more sweepers you throw, you're going to leave some over the middle part of the plate. It goes right to the barrel. You still have to pitch, and you still should use your fastball and whatever other pitches you have, but it makes it harder for hitters today because they're trying to lift home runs. Good contact guys can still find a way to punch that ball the other way.

ANGELS ADOPT "WEST ORANGE" & "THOMAS JEFFERSON" ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

This past month, the Angels visited West Orange Elementary in Orange and Thomas Jefferson Elementary in Santa Ana with players Zach Neto and Luis Rengifo as part of our Adopt-A-School program, presented by OC Waste and Recycling (OCWR). In addition to the all-school spirit assemblies, the students received Angels Rally Monkeys, OCWR giveaways, Angels game tickets and each school was awarded with a $2,000 grant from the Angels Baseball Foundation!

OC GRIP HOSTED AT ANGEL STADIUM

On April 26th, 1,500 at-risk youth were rewarded with a trip to Angel Stadium for their improving school attendance, behavior and avoiding the path of joining a gang. This special event marked the 14th year in which students rose to the challenge issued by Orange County Gang Reduction and Intervention Partnership (OC GRIP). Through the partnership with Angels Baseball, students from OC GRIP were greeted by Angels Outfielder Brett Philips, Pitcher Carlos Estévez, and Manager Phil Nevin. Angels broadcaster, Mark Gubicza, and Angels Community Relations Manager, Adam Cali, also shared their message with the students. Each member of the Angels team present helped inspire the kids through sharing their own journeys to success. All participants watched the Angels warm up during batting practice, received an Angels hat, dinner and finished it off watching an Angels win against the Oakland A's!

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL VISIT TO MEMORIALCARE

On May 8th, Gio Urshela and Chase Silseth visited with patients at MemorialCare Miller Children's & Women's Hospital in Long Beach to lift the spirits of the patients and families. During the visit, they distributed Angels Rally Monkeys, Angels hats & Angels Care Kits- which included an Angels shirt, headband, drawstring bag and four tickets to an upcoming game! It was an inspiring moment for the patients and families, as much as it was for the players that brought joy and happiness to them.

ANGELS 5K AND FUN RUN PRESENTED BY LEXUS

The Angels 5K and Fun Run presented by Lexus is just around the corner! The annual event returns in 2023 to give fans an opportunity to run around Angel Stadium and on the warning track. The event features both a 5K and 1-Mile Fun Run distance and will take runners throughout Angel Stadium, the Big A and surrounding parking lots. Be sure to wear your best RED, WHITE, and BLUE running attire for this year's patriotic-themed race! Registration and information is available at angels.com/5K.

ANGELS UP-CYCLE CHALLENGE IN PARTNERSHIP WITH OC WASTE AND RECYCLING

In celebration of Earth Day on April 22nd, the Angels teamed up with local elementary schools in an Up-Cycle Challenge for students from the 2023 Adopt-A-School program. Students displayed their creativity and artistic skills using different recycled materials to create a unique design or art piece. All students who participated received a gift from the Angels and learned about how to reuse recycled materials to create something useful and beautiful.

NEW ERA TIPS IT'S CAP TO THE ANGELS BASEBALL FOUNDATION

On May 9th, New Era Cap celebrated 59FIFTY Day at Angel Stadium. In honor of New Era Cap and the iconic 59FIFTY, New Era Cap Mid-West Sales Representative, Fili Martinez presented a check to Angels Chairman, Dennis Kuhl for $5,950 to the Angels Baseball Foundation.

RALLY READERS PRESENTED BY CHICK-FIL-A SOCAL

The Angels, in partnership with Chick-fil-A SoCal, visited the Anaheim Mobile Library-East Anaheim Branch on April 24th to share story time with nearly 100 young readers. Numerous kids and families from Anaheim listened to Angels catcher, Matt Thaiss, read a children's book and answer questions about what it's like being a member of the Angels. Strike Force, Angels AM830's Trent Rush, and even the Chick-fil-A Cow were in attendance to bring gifts to each child, including an Angels hat, bookmark and Chick-fil-A headband.

ARTE & CAROLE MORENO

In May of 2003, Arte and Carole Moreno were introduced as the third owners in Angels franchise history and their impact was immediate. The Morenos have guided the franchise to six A.L. West Division titles and 17 seasons drawing over three million fans, resulting in a total home attendance of over 55 million fans. In July of 2018, Arte received the distinct honor of being elected to the Board of Directors for the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum in Cooperstown, NY.

Arte and Carole's focus is balanced between baseball, business operations and fan experience. During their tenure, the Morenos' support of the baseball operations department has resulted in the acquisition of many key players, including Hall of Famer Vladimir Guerrero, three-time N.L. MVP Albert Pujols, nine-time Gold Glover Torii Hunter, 2009 World Series MVP Hideki Matsui, 2005 A.L. Cy Young Award winner Bartolo Colón, and several others. In 2019, the Morenos signed three-time A.L. MVP Mike Trout to a record-setting 12-year contract extension effectively keeping the 10-time All-Star a member of the Halos for the remainder of his historic career. Additionally, in December of 2017, the Morenos oversaw the successful recruitment of two-way player and future Rookie of the Year and MVP Shohei Ohtani.

During the family's tenure, the organization has also continued to cultivate players from its farm system. Their dedication has paid dividends in the development of significant current players such as Trout, David Fletcher, Taylor Ward, Jared Walsh, Jose Suarez and Reid Detmers with prospects Zach Neto, Ky Bush and Ben Joyce on the Major League horizon.

Over the past 20 years, Arte and Carole have strengthened the Club's commitment to local communities and beyond. In 2004, the Morenos established the Angels Baseball Foundation concentrating on investments in education, health care, arts & sciences and community-related youth programs to experience the positive attributes of baseball. The Foundation distributes annual grants to various youth programs within Southern California. The Angels Scholars program works with the Orange County Office of Education and the college preparatory AVID program to award several annual college scholarships. Since purchasing the Club in 2003, the Morenos, the Angels and the Angels Baseball Foundation have contributed over $20 million to various charitable efforts with a primary focus in the Orange County area.

In 2010, the Angels were privileged to host their third All-Star Game (also 1967 & 1989). In conjunction with MLB's All-Star Legacy Fund, the foundation funded renovation of softball fields at Anaheim's Pioneer Park (into the MLB Angels All-Star Complex) as well as the special-surfaced field for the Miracle League of Orange County for disabled youth. Prior to the 2022 season, the Angels Baseball Foundation, while partnering with Magical Builders and Anaheim Hills Little League, completely renovated two local little league fields, complete with new pitching mounds, backstops, 75 tons of infield mix and 6,500 square feet of hybrid-Bermuda grass. The Foundation regularly donates tickets, memorabilia and ballpark experiences to the various groups and fundraisers.

In addition to their responsibilities with the Angels and various committees within MLB, the Morenos were part of ownership of the former Single-A Salt Lake Trappers of the Pioneer League. Under their leadership, the Trappers won three championships. Arte and Carole were also original investors in the Arizona Diamondbacks (including their 2001 World Series championship) and in a partnered ownership of the NBA's Phoenix Suns.

The Moreno family is also active in their own philanthropic efforts. In 1997, they established the Moreno Family Foundation to support nonprofit organizations focusing on youth and education as well as investing in educational scholarships in K-8, high school and college. Their favorite charities include St. Vincent de Paul, St. Mary's Food Bank, the Barrow Neurological Institute, Boys & Girls Clubs, UMOM Homeless Shelters, American Heart Association and Fresh Start Women's Foundation. The Morenos were previously members of the Little League Foundation's Board of Trustees, which assists Little Leagues in every state and more than 70 other countries. For her continued philanthropic efforts, Carole Moreno was honored by the Girl Scouts of Orange County as their 2019 G.I.R.L. (Go-Getter, Innovator, Risk-Taker, Leader) honoree.

Carole was born in Reno, NV, and moved often as the daughter of a career Air Force man. She spent much of her youth in Fredonia, KS, and went on to earn a degree in journalism from the University of Kansas. Arte is a native of Tucson, AZ, and served his country in Vietnam as a member of the U.S. Army. After his tour of duty, he attended the University of Arizona, graduating with a degree in marketing. In 2005, Time Magazine selected Moreno as one of the '25 Most Influential Hispanics in America' and was named by Bloomberg News' inaugural list of 100 Influential Latinos in 2022. Arte and Carole are the parents of three children.

FRONT OFFICE

DENNIS KUHL

Dennis Kuhl begins his 20th season with the Angels after joining the Club on November 10, 2003. He was initially appointed as the Angels' seventh President before a promotion to Chairman on November 14, 2009. Kuhl's focus centers on renewed efforts in the area of civic affairs and community outreach. Kuhl also oversees the Angels' flagship radio station KLAA AM830 and serves as the President of the Angels Baseball Foundation.

Under his leadership, the Angels have shown tremendous growth and advancement in key business initiatives, including sponsorship and marketing revenues, as well as nationwide expansion and promotion of the Angels' brand. Kuhl also played a key role in working with Major League Baseball in hosting of the 2010 All-Star Game.

Kuhl is actively involved in several Southern California charities. A founding board member of The Pacific Club IMPACT Foundation/ Lott Trophy, Kuhl works with Susan G. Komen for the Cure serving as one of the "Pink Tie Guys," a select group of advocates speaking out to find a cure for breast cancer. Additionally, he is a member of the President's Advisory Committee for Cypress College and serves on the advisory boards for the South County Outreach, Anaheim YMCA, Rivals For The Cure, Irvine Public School Foundation, Kindervision, and the Angels Baseball Foundation Board of Directors.

A champion of community involvement, Kuhl's efforts span across Orange County and beyond. He is a member of the Board of Governors at Chapman University and on the board of directors for several nonprofits: The Los Angeles Sports Council, Boys and Girls Clubs of Greater Anaheim-Cypress, The Tiger Woods Foundation, the Noble Vikings Charity of Orange County, the Alzheimer's Association of Orange County, Abound Food Care, & Newport Beach and the Angels RBI (Reviving Baseball in Inner Cities) program. He also sits on the Board of Directors for Servite High School as well as the Advisory Board for the Tiger Wood Foundation.

A Boonton, NJ native, Kuhl graduated from the University of Arizona in 1970 with a degree in business administration. In honor of his late father, he established the Bud Kuhl Wood Bat Invitational in 2007 with annual proceeds donated to local charities. Kuhl also initiated scholarships in his father's name to the Eller School of Management at the University of Arizona. In 2009, he was named the "Business Man of the Year" by the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce. Kuhl currently resides in Newport Beach.

JOHN CARPINO

John Carpino was named the eighth president in Angels' history November 14, 2009. He oversees all areas of business, sales, marketing, finance and communications. Carpino's top priority is fan value and experience in all areas of the game including concessions, merchandise, promotions and ticketing. As the principal executive in charge of business operations, he has helped welcome over three million fans through Angel Stadium turnstiles during 17 different seasons. He was also an integral part of Angel Stadium hosting the 2010 MLB All-Star Game and oversaw the negotiations for the extension of the Club's television agreement with FOX Sports West, now known as Bally Sports West. ESPN The Magazine rated the Angels as the #1 MLB franchise in nine of Carpino's first 11 years with the organization.

The Chicago native continues to create value for fans, focusing not only on the game inside the lines, but on the entire ballpark experience. He has guided the Angel brand with a focus on affordable pricing while providing a quality family environment, including continual stadium improvements and enhancements. Under his leadership, Carpino's staff has also established Angel Stadium as one of the premiere destinations in California for non-baseball events such as concerts, Supercross, Monster Jam and corporate events.

As one of the initial executives appointed by Owner Arte Moreno after purchasing the Club, the 2023 season marks Carpino's 20th with the team, having previously held the post of Senior Vice President. Carpino has led the Angels to unprecedented financial growth in sponsorship, marketing and ticketing. He also assisted in the acquisition of high-profile players such as 2021 A.L. MVP Shohei Ohtani and 3-time MVP Albert Pujols as well as the historic 12-year contract extension for three-time MVP Mike Trout.

His vision and creativity have brought an emphasis on the Angels' heritage with a reintroduction of the Club's Hall of Fame and hosting of fan events and celebration of team history. Popular giveaways have included several world record-breaking items and those showcasing the popularity of the Rally Monkey. His efforts continue to create a brand that remains connected to its rich tradition while elevating the Angels Organization on a global level.

Carpino's promotion followed six seasons as the Angels Senior Vice President of Sales and Marketing during which he oversaw all aspects of marketing, promotions and ticket sales. He began his professional career in 1982 in the billboard industry, including stints in Tucson, Chicago, Phoenix and Los Angeles. In 1985, he joined Moreno at Outdoor Systems, a billboard company (which later became Viacom Outdoor in 2000 and CBS Outdoor in 2005) and spent 18 years in the Phoenix and Los Angeles markets. Carpino oversaw $200 million in sales for the western region. Carpino is a 1982 graduate of the University of Arizona with a degree in business administration.

In 2017, he was inducted into the National Italian American Sports Hall of Fame.

He and wife Elizabeth are involved in numerous charitable efforts throughout Southern California and support the Angels Baseball Foundation. John and Elizabeth have three children and reside in Laguna Beach.

In his current role, he oversees all aspects of guest facing ballpark and employee services including, maintenance, electrical and mechanical operations, capital projects, staffing and scheduling, grounds keeping, guest services, security, parking, housekeeping operations and special events.

Sanders' promotion followed 13 years working in various roles throughout the organization. The Southern California native joined the Angels in 2007 as a Client Services Manager and, following two short years, was promoted to Director, Client Services. In 2012, his knowledge, passion and strategic vision for the stadium resulted in his role being expanded to Senior Director of Ballpark Operations, a title he held until his most recent promotion.

Prior to the Angels, Sanders spent parts of seven years working for the Disneyland Resort in different capacities, most notably as Guest Service Manager for Front of House Operations at the Grand Californian Hotel from 2006 to 2007.

The three-time All-Region selection and Academic All-American still holds Chapman's Division III career records in home runs, RBI and assists. As team captain in 2003, he played an integral role in the university's 2003 Division III National Championship, it's first baseball title since 1968. The shortstop went 4-for-6 with a run scored and two RBI in the championship game against Christopher Newport University. Sanders was inducted into the university's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2017.

Minasian, 42, joined the Angels after a three-year stint (2018-2020) with the Atlanta Braves and his impact on the Halos was immediate. Over his three-year tenure, Minasian's focus has been on fortifying the Major League roster with impact players like Tyler Anderson, Gio Urshela, Hunter Renfroe, Raisel Iglesias, Alex Cobb and Noah Syndergaard, while overseeing the advancement of Angels farmhands Patrick Sandoval, Jose Suarez and Reid Detmers.

With a background in player development, Minasian and his staff have also either drafted or acquired nine of the Club's top 10 prospects according to MLB.com, including top prospect, catcher Logan O'Hoppe who made his Major League debut in 2022.

Before joining the Angels, Minasian held the title of Senior Vice President of Baseball Operations and Assistant General Manager over his final two seasons with Atlanta where he oversaw the day-to-day responsibilities of the Baseball Operations staff. His primary focus during that time surrounded contract negotiations, pro and international scouting and analytics. He was originally hired by Atlanta in September of 2017 as Director of Player Personnel before quickly being promoted.

Prior to his time with the Braves, Minasian spent nine seasons (2009-2017) with the Toronto Blue Jays, originally joining the organization as a Major League scout. He also served six seasons (2011-2016) as Director of Professional Scouting and was a Special Assistant to General Manager Ross Atkins in 2017.

Minasian was born in Chicago, IL and grew up in Arlington, TX. He attended the University of Texas-Arlington and has been around professional baseball since his childhood, when he was a batboy for the Texas Rangers from 1988-96. He then worked as a Rangers Clubhouse Attendant from 1997-2002 and transitioned into a scouting role in 2003. Minasian served as a staff assistant to Rangers manager Buck Showalter and the Major League coaching staff from 2003-06 before becoming a Major League advance scout during the 2007-08 seasons.

Major League Baseball celebrates Jackie Robinson Day each April. Each player wears Robinson's historic No. 42 – a number officially retired universally by 1997 – with all teams using Dodger blue jersey numbers regardless of their primary team colors.

It is an annual tradition that began in 2004, and this year Jackie Robinson Day was more than a tribute to his historic debut with the Dodgers 76 years ago. It's also a public nod to the 50th anniversary of the Jackie Robinson Foundation that was founded by Jackie's widow, Rachel, after Robinson passed away in 1972.

JACKIE ROBINSON DAY / GARRET ANDERSON

What Jackie Robinson means to me is more what he did off the field than what he did on the field. Fighting for Civil Rights is something long fought in this country and what he was able to do with the platform he got with baseball I think he advanced it at some point. He was the first one through the door and the first one through the door always gets the brunt of everything. He was the pioneer. There are no words to describe the respect and admiration that I have for him. The impact that Jackie Robinson has on the game still plays out today and you can see it all across America and on the fields and all the different nationalities. It wasn't just Black people he was fighting for. He was fighting for the rights of everybody. The results today you can see across all the teams that we have with different nationalities. It is a worldwide sport and it's a beautiful thing that people come from different countries and play this beautiful game. The impact he has is immeasurable. There are so many Civil Rights to be fought for and you can see the results of it today. We are still fighting for those same causes.

CATCHING UP WITH .... DARRELL MILLER

Darrell Miller is a former catcher with the Angels, where he played parts of five big league seasons from 1984-88.

Drafted in the ninth round of the 1979 MLB Draft, Miller played 12 pro seasons – all in the Angels organization – and he saw action in the minors 11 of those years. The 1987 season was the lone single campaign he played an entire year with the Angels.

Currently the Vice President of Youth and Facility Development for Youth Programs for Major League Baseball, the proud California State Polytechnic University in Pomona alum (selected by the NCAA Division II as a 1st team All- America catcher no less) works on behalf of the Office of the Commissioner. The role focuses on the grassroots growth of the game in the inner-city in particular.

Q: What has your post-playing career looked like?

A: Originally, the Angels hired me to be Director of Community Relations in late 1990. I held that role for four years. It was new. We never really had a department like that before. I wanted to also stay on the baseball operations side. I asked to do more there while also starting to support the RBI Program. One of my last acts in that role was hosting the RBI World Series. Later I worked more in player development through Bob Fontaine, the scouting director. I started scouting more often. A few years later is when I started working for MLB. We eventually built a Major League Baseball Youth Academy in Compton along with the other academies throughout the United States. We have been doing our due diligence. I am the most optimistic that I have ever been being in this space.

Q: You cannot play the game forever. What was the transition like originally from the locker room to the front office?

A: Not easy. For me as a player, I pretty much was still in my prime. I was really missing the game, so the first year was really difficult. I went from playing with guys to needing things from guys. I'm glad my wife Kelly was really patient with me. She helped me make that transition. From there it became fun being involved with some younger people and being able to help from a development perspective. In community relations we were creative with camps and clinics. Still an executive, you were lucky to put on a uniform once in a while and go out there and play with the kids or help out.

CATCHING UP WITH .... DARRELL MILLER

A: I got four, five years in of MLB service time despite bouncing up and down, up and down. I made the club twice out of camp. My first call-up I got called up to play first base, to back-up Rod Carew in '84. The next year I tore-up my left knee during a collision at home plate which led to surgery. And then came '86. But I spent a lot of time in Triple-A, obviously, and a couple years in Double-A as well.

Q: How memorable was the postseason in 1986?

A: I was with the team but wasn't activated for the playoffs. They kept Devon White on the roster, and we had Bob Boone and Jerry Narron catching. We had those very tough losses in the postseason that were really difficult. I mean, we basically lost three games in a row. Snatching defeat from the jaws of victory, right? We never won that fourth game. We had a team that could really play, and we had some pretty good pitching.

Q: Looking at your career, the word grind comes to mind. How much of a grind was it?

A: When you play several years in the minor leagues, and you feel like you are doing well, it is then when you realize you are in the midst of the grind. The Angels were also known for not promoting their young talent. They often traded young talent. To actually get promoted and play for the Major League club was rare. It was a mindset as much as it was a grind.

Q: How unique was it to play so close to where you grew up in Riverside?

A: It was really fun because for a lot of my former teammates and my family it was much easier for them to come to games. No need to get on a plane. And they had just developed that 91 freeway that went all the way through. It was also very difficult to be able to get tickets all the time. Tickets were hot. We were playing pretty well. The Angels were really run and gun in the early 80s because we had a good team. We had a lot of Hall of Famers on that team and we won. It was a blast.

Q: You played with so many great players. Do you keep in touch with guys?

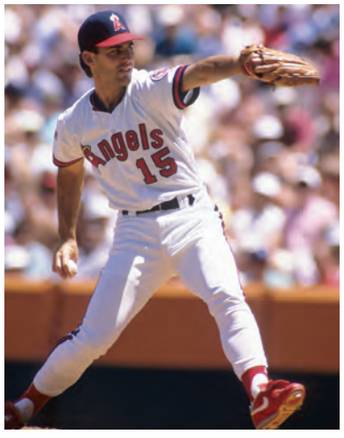
A: You still talk, you still see guys. Guys like Bobby Grich, Gary Pettis. We've stayed in close contact with our families. Doug DeCinces too and Bob Boone who I caught behind. I talk to his boys a lot as the family has been supportive of what I work on. I played with a young Chuck Finley. Chuck and I have a special relationship. I caught him a lot. Kirk McCaskill is a great guy. Unfortunately we lost some guys too early.

Q: As your playing career was winding down, your brother's NBA career was starting. How much were you able to follow Reggie after he was drafted by the Pacers?

A: It was fun, but when Reggie signed with Indiana, the fans really hated him at first. They wanted Steve Alford in the first round out of Indiana University. He got booed a lot, but one thing that they didn't realize about Reggie was he had such thick skin. He has that mentality that it will just push him to work harder, and it was great to watch him react that way. In that space, at the same time -- we're both professional athletes and Cheryl soon starred in the WNBA and got to go to the Olympics – so it's rare you find a family that's talented enough to play at a high level for any extended period of time. They're really blessed. We are really blessed.

Q: With your role as Director of MLB's Urban Youth Academy in Compton, is there a particular area of the game you emphasize?

A: We have to double-down on letting the kids know the best opportunity is on the mound. We have worked with a lot of kids, African Americans, with good arms who have embraced the challenge. Some of these kids are so athletic. We just have to get them past the part where maybe they think pitching is boring.

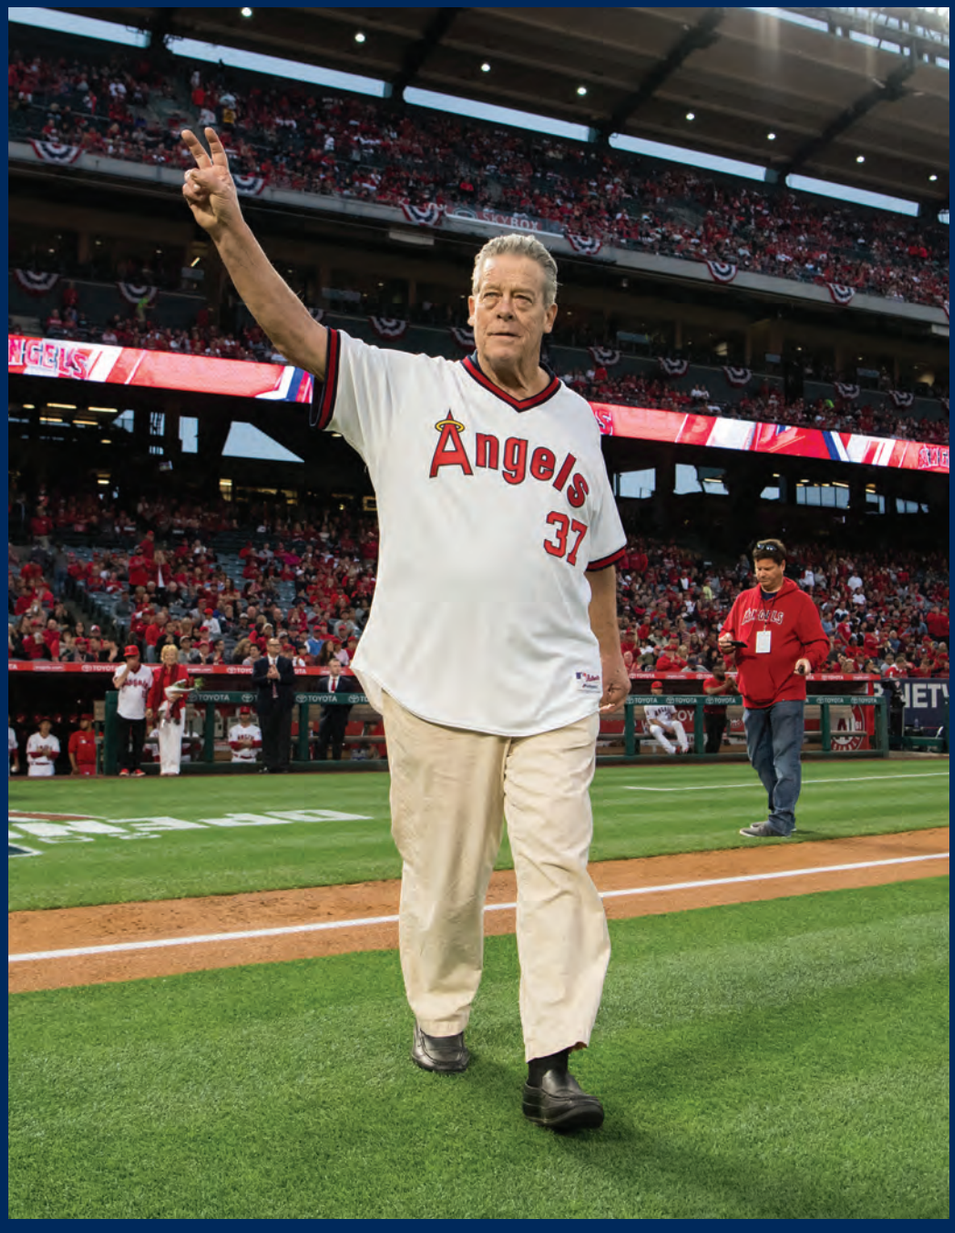


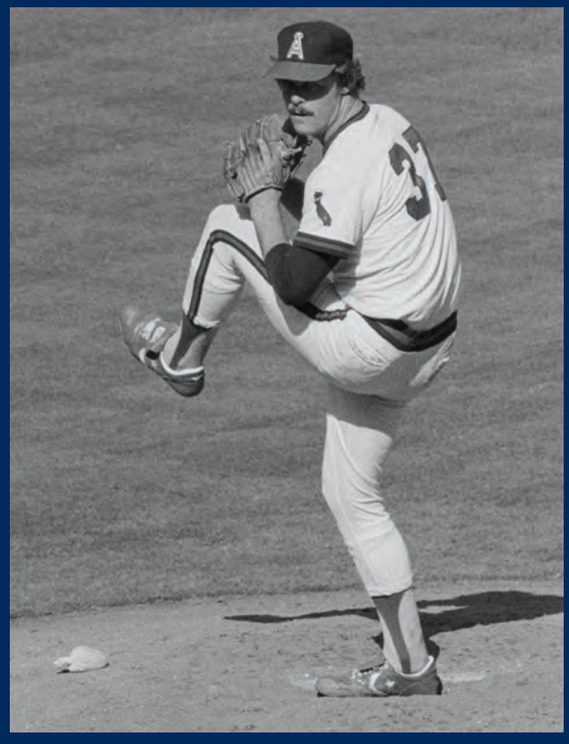
Q: What does Jackie Robinson Day mean to you personally?

A: Jackie Robinson Day helps shine a light on the issue. It is a celebration of the barriers he broke for African Americans, Latinos, everyone not born white. The diversity in the game today, and for those put on a uniform before every game, owe respect to Jackie Robinson.

IN HONOR OF DAVE FROST

IN HONOR OF DAVE FROST, FORMER ANGELS PITCHER WHO RECENTLY PASSED AWAY AT AGE 70:





DARRELL MILLER: I was incredibly saddened by the passing of David Frost. With the Angels he had a nice run as a pitcher, and he also worked at the MLB Youth Academy in Compton as a pitching instructor for close to eight years. Frosty was a gentle giant, who was big and strong, and also quiet and funny. He was a very talented guy -- really smart and intelligent – and I will miss him very much.

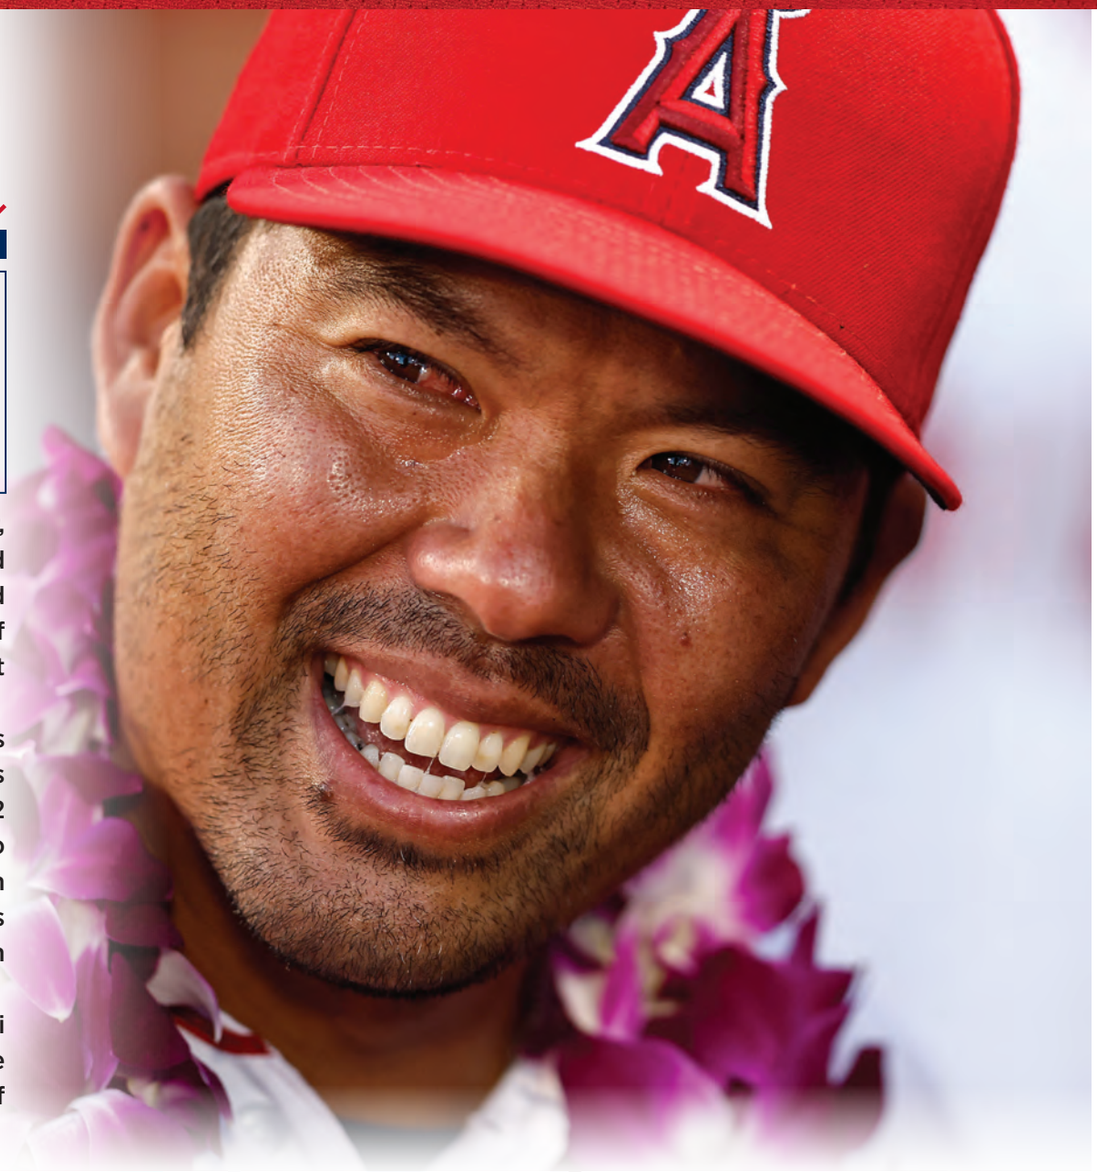
ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT

KURT SUZUKI



Following a stellar 16-year playing career, which included a World Series title and All-Star nod, Kurt Suzuki officially joined the Angels front office prior to the start of the season. He serves as Special Assistant to the General Manager.

Suzuki was a catcher for the Angels the past two seasons. He announced his retirement one week before the 2022 campaign concluded. Before entering pro ball, he was a star with Cal State Fullerton and was a leading member of that school's College World Series championship in 2004.

Drafted by Oakland, the native of Hawaii played for five different teams. Now he assists Perry Minasian in all areas of baseball operations.

ALUMNI/BASEBALL CARD: GARY PETTIS

Key word? Youthful.

Pettis played his first six seasons with the Angels and was a member of the 1986 A.L. Western Division championship squad. He also won two Gold Gloves during his time in Anaheim.

Pettis started in the big leagues at 24. He certainly, however, did not play pro ball at age 14.

Pettis, now a coach with the Astros, recently told the story on Carded on MLB Network.

"I was at home, and I had a friend who had called me. He said, 'You know you really look young on your Topps 1985 baseball card. I thought, 'Well I'm 24 and I thought that to still be pretty young.' I just kind of shrugged it off and didn't think anything else about it.

"One day during the season someone showed me the card. I said, 'Oh my gosh. Now I see what he was talking about.' The card was not me. It was my 14-year-old brother.

"On this particular day, it was a Sunday afternoon.One of my teammates, Juan Beniquez, had a son and he and my brother would always come out — my brother was 14 then but just as big as me — and those two would run around and chase fly balls. I think they saw him and didn't recognize it was a 14-year-old kid. It was them looking to get a photo of me not doing something baseball related and they took a photo of him in the dugout.

"He was so excited (when he ultimately saw the card). You think about a 14-year-old kid on a baseball card being circulated all throughout the country. He became an instant hit with a lot of his friends. A lot of my friends had fun with it.

"I could only imagine what it would have been like for me at 14 to have my own baseball card. I think it's great."

IN HONOR OF TOPPS INTERNATIONAL TRADING CARD DAY, A SPECIAL TOPPS TRADING CARD GIVEAWAY TAKES PLACE AT ANGEL STADIUM ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 5, FOR THE FIRST 25,000 FANS IN ATTENDANCE.

Help Rebuild Ukraine

There are nearly 8 million Ukrainians scattered across the country, and most of them will have no home to return to when the war ends.

Rebuilding of Ukraine must begin with sheltering the people left homeless by this devastating war. And our goal is to provide as many of these people as we can with comfortable mobile homes for the duration of the reconstruction of permanent homes.

GETTING THE CALL FIRST

THE ANGELS HAVE PRODUCED THE FIRST BIG LEAGUER FROM EACH OF THE LAST TWO DRAFTS.

Zach Neto, the 13th overall selection last July, bested all 2022 draftees to MLB when he was recalled by the Halos this past April. In May of 2022, Chase Silseth (22th round/Class of 2021) was the first player from that draft class to reach the big league.

Communities In Schools

In schools to instill confidence.

Feeling like she didn't fit in, DeeAndra struggled to find her place in school. As a result, her motivation was low and her attendance was suffering. Najee from Communities In Schools became her cheerleader, helping DeeAndra see that she was capable of much more. Within one year, her attendance went from 59% to 89%. She's now an honor roll student, working toward her long-term goal of becoming a cardiothoracic surgeon. There are millions of at-risk kids like DeeAndra who need a caring adult to help them stay in school and succeed in life.

See how we help all kids succeed. | CommunitiesInSchools.org
